

Valves

Valve applications often require abrasion and corrosion resistant materials with special sliding and sealing characteristics. Ceramic materials offer superior properties.

More informationen about:

Valve components for extreme operating conditions